COMMUNITY · CONSERVATION · CEMETERY

Bluestem is an 87-acre nature preserve with quiet areas for reflection, open space for contemplation, a trail network for mindful recreation, and a conservation cemetery for natural burial. Natural burial at Bluestem is a simple, meaningful way of returning our bodies to the earth without embalming, vaults, or synthetic materials. Interested in this option? Please follow the steps below to get started with Bluestem.

- Interested? Take time to visit Bluestem on your own. It is open to the public daily from dawn to dusk. Experiencing this quiet, sacred space is the best first step in determining if Bluestem is a right fit for you.
- Ready to learn about natural burial at Bluestem? Attend an online information session or take a one-hour, guided informational tour.
- Have further questions? Complete an interest form, and staff will follow up to schedule a phone call and answer your specific questions.
- Ready to make a plot reservation? Complete an interest form, and staff will contact you to schedule a two-hour, in-person appointment. Plot selection and reservations are completed with staff onsite.

All interest forms and information can be found on our website under the CEMETERY section, on the HOW IT WORKS page.
